RESEARCH IN HONGKONG

THE news that Hongkong may have a national research institution will be widely welcomed. It is more than ten years ago that Hongkong had thrust upon it the decision to become an industrial state. And there has been no looking back since. In deed industrialisation began at a fast trot and has since broken into an unchecked gallop. Manufacturing know-how, managerial training, automation and all the other improvements necessary to bring our factories up to date, have had a hard time keeping up.

In industry more than anywhere else, systematic research will be welcomed. But it is only one need. We mentioned social security the other day and the urgent need for research in this field. Again, on such basic questions as the minimum wage necessary to support a family the Colony has no facts and figures other than those obtained by Government and a few private organisations for their own employees. But these have no Colony-wide application.

In any case the Salaries Commission which investigated this question admitted in its 1959 report that in so far as rent and education "these two items vary so greatly both in amount and incidence that it is not possible to do more than allot them arbitrary weights in the general pattern of expenditure." And it added significantly: "A more scientific appreciation will require a widespread survey of social conditions throughout the Colony, but merely among Government servants."

We mention another case: a remarkable private survey was carried out a few years ago on the effects of under-nourishment on a group of Wanchai children. This was later translated into a scientifically calculated feeding scheme to ensure that the children received a balanced diet. Something on a Colony-wide scale applicable to all school children is an urgent need, but at present the scheme relies on an independent "ginger group" to stimulate Government support. A thorough local survey would provide its own stimulus and convey a sense of urgency far better than any anxious group of citizens.

BUT we mention only a few questions and there is in fact a vast field of work for such an institution which has its well-known counterparts in the United Kingdom, USA and Australia. Indeed the main problem here will be to decide how wide a scope it will have and then to get the right men and women to staff it. The institution seems to have progressed no further than the idea stage at present but, like Sir Sik-nin Chau, we hope that the Unesco meeting gives impetus to the project.

That no organisation of this kind has been established before now may be widely regretted but it poses difficulties that cannot be solved overnight; if our progress must be slow, let us also hope that it will be thorough and deliberate. One assurance that could be given is that this institution will be treated as a priority matter—and not pigeonholed in the way that other good ideas are when enthusiasm wears a little thin.

'Apartheid reprehensible, repugnant to human dignity' U.N. CONDEMNS SOUTH AFRICA

Member states urged to take action

United Nations, Nov. 28.
The General Assembly tonight condemned South Africa's apartheid policy as "reprehensible and repugnant to human dignity" and urged member states to take separate and collective action to try to change it.

The vote was an overwhelming 97 to two with one abstention.

MILD FORM OF CHOLERA RAGES IN PI PROVINCE

Manila, Nov. 28.
The Governor of Samar Province announced today that 176 persons have died of cholera enteritis in his province, the Manila Times reported today.

Governor Vicente Valley said 389 persons in at least six towns in Samar are in critical condition in hospital. Health Secretary Mr. Elpidio Valencia sent two top epidemiologists to Samar, in the Southern Philippines, and ordered more vaccine sent there, as health authorities confirmed that the disease has reached epidemic proportions. Health authorities in Samar received reinforcements from Manila and nearby Cebu Province in their drive for mass inoculation against the disease. Of the 871,853 inhabitants in Samar, only 10.74 per cent have been immunised, it was learned. Cholera enteritis is a mild form of cholera caused by "el tor" bacteria. Authorities in Manila have sent specimens of this bacteria to the United States for analysis.—UPI.

FIFTEEN DIE 54 HURT EXPLOSION IN CHILDREN'S NURSERY

Mexico City, Nov. 28.
A boiler and five natural gas supply tanks exploded today in a children's nursery and women's training centre. At least 15 persons were reported killed and 54 injured.

The explosion occurred when the centre, operated by the Mexican Government's social security department, was jammed with parents and children attending a special ceremony.

LEAKING
The blast was believed caused by leaking gas from the supply tanks. It left a crater in the centre of the wrecked four-storey cement, steel and glass building. Windows for blocks around were blown out, police said. Many factories, homes and small stores in the neighbourhood were damaged.—UPI.

New York, Nov. 28.
Mrs. Ocie Williamson of Itasca, Texas, and Mrs. Warren Ralwater, of Salinas, Okla., were first and second in a contest yesterday because of the flour sacks they wore. The women modelled dresses made from flour sacks which earned them top prizes in the National Cotton Council's cotton bag sewing contest.—UPI.

POLICE RAID GAMBLING DENS IN HK

Hongkong Police made widespread raids on gambling dens this morning, it was reliably learned today.

The belief is that the raids were made in connection with tonight's game between the Swedish soccer team and the Combined Chinese at Hongkong Stadium.

The raids were synchronised for a fixed time on dens situated in various parts of the island.

No further information was available before the China Mail went to press at 2 pm.

UK scientists live on diet poisoned by fallout

London, Nov. 28.
A British scientist who has been eating food and drink deliberately poisoned by radioactive fallout said today he feels fine.

So do two colleagues who joined him in the month-long test.

Dr George Harrison, 57-year-old member of the Medical Research Council's Radio Biological Research Unit, said: "We each had a one-pound loaf 10 times as radioactive as a normal loaf and one quarter of radioactive milk each day."

"This diet was supplemented with two ounces of butter, two ounces of bacon and four ounces of jam, which were free of radioactivity. In addition we had distilled water with which we could make coffee or tea."

SATISFACTORY
"It was a completely satisfactory diet — 3,000 calories a day — and we could have gone on eating it for far longer."

The bread was made from grain which had been sprayed with strontium 90 as part of an Agricultural Research Council project. The radio-active milk was obtained from a cow injected with strontium 90.

Purpose of the experiment, said Dr Harrison, was to test whether strontium is absorbed by the human body easier from milk or from grain. The conclusion: humans absorb about the same amount from either.

As a result of their experiment, said Dr Harrison, they are satisfied there is no need for undue worry about present test levels of radioactivity or those expected next spring as a result of Russia's super-bomb tests.—AP.

More rain than usual

Hongkong has had more rain than usual this month — but Royal Observatory officials could not say today that the month's rainfall was a record.

Warm air coming over the sea has caused drizzle and rain for a longer period than usual, said a spokesman for the Royal Observatory this morning. "This brought up the relative humidity to a higher percentage."

The relative humidity stood at an unusually high 94 per cent this morning. Total rainfall for the month so far was 3.00 inches. November's rainfall made up four per cent of this year's total—37.41 inches.

MILLION-MAN ARMY FOR U.S.

Washington, Nov. 28.
The Kennedy Administration has decided to maintain a million-man army under its new budget blueprint, it was reported today.

The President and Defence Secretary Mr. Robert B. McNamara were said to have decided last weekend at Hyannis Port, Massachusetts, to ask Congress to finance 10 instead of 14 regular army combat divisions.—UPI.

TANKS, TROOPS CALLED IN TO DISPERSE MOBS

Caribbean's trouble isle

Ciudad Trujillo is now renamed Santo Domingo

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, Nov. 28.

The army sent tanks and troops into the centre of the city today to disperse ugly mobs threatening to enforce with violence a general strike against the government.

The tanks rumbled into Santo Domingo's cobble streets at noon, closely followed by heavily armed and large infantry patrols. The troops were deployed at strategic street intersections. The armed threat brought about gradual dispersal of the openly anti-American street mobs who threatened shop-owners with violence if they did not shut down.

The strike completely shut down the city. For a time, all communications with the outside were cut off as strikers threatened violence unless telephone and cable companies closed.

No incidents of violence were reported, although some trees were uprooted and chopped down here and in the second city of Santiago for use as road blocks.—UPI.

Rallied

The opposition's general strike apparently signalled a political right to the finish. The armed forces rallied to the support of President Joaquin Balaguer, and denounced the strike as an attempt to set the army against the people. During the morning ugly civilian mobs roamed streets spreading an atmosphere of tension and fear.

For the first time, the mobs were openly anti-American. Their surly mood contrasted sharply with their jubilation of recent days.

The clash between the opposition and government included an army appeal to the people to ignore the strike call, issued by the powerful National Civic Union.

The government declared virtual martial law. A curfew was imposed from 6 pm to 5 am.

It also served notice that any public employees failing to report for work tomorrow would be summarily dismissed. It warned employers and employees participating in the "political strike" that they would be punished under existing labour laws.

Armed Forces Chief, General Pedro Rodriguez Echevarria, who would assume the Presidency if Mr Balaguer yielded to opposition demands to resign, said the military stood squarely behind what he described as the constitutional government.

"This means President Balaguer," General Rodriguez said. "I am the next in line (to take over) and that job I do not want."

CHINA'S FAMINE HITS TRADE

London Nov. 28.
Sir Keith Joseph, Minister of State at the Board of Trade, said today that one of the reasons for the fall in British exports to China was that China had to spend so much of her foreign exchange on food because of her disastrous famine.

Mr William Teeling, a Conservative, had asked in the House of Commons why there had been a fall in the exports from £4,492,000 in May 1960 to £553,800 in May this year.—Reuter.

HK CONTROL HALTS FLOW REFUGEES OF CHINESE

Hongkong's tight control over the entry of illegal immigrants has temporarily foiled Red China's plan to expatriate 100,000 people, said a leading Colony Chinese paper in a despatch from Macao this morning.

The report went on to say that in the past 23 days, about 2,000 people have succeeded in "sneaking" into Hongkong as stowaways, averaging a little less than 100 a day.

Majority

But the majority of the would-be illegal immigrants had been stopped by the strict controls in Hongkong and were waiting in Macao, filling to bursting capacity all the cheaper hotels and travel service boarding houses there.

Hardest hit were the refugee runners, one of whose four fully-loaded vessels was intercepted by a Communist gunboat near Lap Sap Mei several days ago and another, by a Hongkong Preventive Service launch near Green Island.

The remaining two vessels had to retreat to Macao, the report said.

There are several hundred intending illegal immigrants, waiting for a chance to get to Hongkong.

An average of 200 people enter Macao every day, the report added.

Two French B-26 twin-engine bombers collided in the air near the Orania Senia airport today, crashing near a village six miles east of the city.

Two reasons why London stocks are gaining

(Why are share prices moving up again? Edward Westropp reports on a significant change in the market outlook.)

By Edward Westropp

London, Nov. 28.

Two factors, quite unrelated but of equal significance, are changing the whole outlook of the stock market for the better.

The first is the attitude of the government. The Prime Minister himself has hinted that however much inflation may be controlled in the years ahead, it cannot be entirely halted.

New York sugar

New York, Nov. 28. World No. 9 sugar futures today closed unchanged to seven points lower with sales of 11 contracts.

Domestic No. 7 sugar closed unchanged to one point higher with sales of 14 contracts.

World sugar was easier at the opening, reflecting a renewed eagerness at London where the spot price eased three points to the equivalent of 2.38 cents per pound, F.O.B.

The weakness was attributed to low prices, second hand offerings of French and French beet raws.

World sugar futures in New York were slightly lower—UPI.

WORLD METAL

London, Nov. 28. Copper ruled very steady during moderate active trading.

Tin was much steadier this afternoon. Spot jumped three points to £952½ and three-months four points up to £1063½.

Lead and zinc were barely steady.

In New York, copper futures today closed four to 22 points lower with sales of 351 contracts.

Futures continued their erratic movement. By late morning local contracts were one to 8 points lower on 35 lots traded.

In London, however, spot copper was up ½¢ in the first session but held unchanged later—UPI.

THE BALTIC EXCHANGE

London, Nov. 28. A fair quantity of fixing was reported to the freight markets today but business could be no means be termed as active.

Australian grain shippers arranged for two voyages, one from the western state to the U.K. and Erie at 75, the other from Geraldton to Sydney to Italy at the 2 1/2 lower rate of 70.

River Plate charterers also returned to the scene and fixed an unnamed Liberty-type vessel with a grain cargo to west Italy at 70/- This rate compared favourably with the 65/- bid paid for similar business on November 8.

Feature

A feature of today's market was the case in the Gulf-Lap ship trade from £140,000 to £135,000. This is the first change since mid-August. Also in the Gulf, reports were received of a vessel having been taken to work 9,500 tons of grain to Alexandria at $8.20.

Other business was very sparse and the only transaction worthy of much note was the fixture of an unnamed Liberty-type vessel with iron ore from Marmagosa to Yugoslavia at 37/- on fire and trimmed terms.

Fixtures

Time charter dealings were limited to the looking of the motor vessel Harpagos on a voyage home from California to the P.K. Continent at 23/-.

Western states Australia to U.K., Erie, Irish Seamore (motor), 14,000 tons, 5 per cent, wheat in bulk, January 29/-, February 24, 75/-, option London direct discharge 72/-, Antwerp-Hamburg range direct charge 70/-, option cost states loading 10/- extra all round—UPI.

DOCKS, YAMAMATSU ATTRACT BUYERS

The market remained firm in today's half-day session, with volume reaching $4 million.

Interest was mainly centred on Docks and Yamamatsu, prices in the latter stocks steadily moving up from $120 to $125 at the close.

A total of $3,680 Docks shares changed hands at between $139 and $140, about the same as yesterday's prices.

Wheelclops closed at 12.40 compared with 12.60 yesterday.

A-6 MURDER SUSPECT
HAD DYED HAIR

London, Nov. 28.

A London club manager said in court at Amptill yesterday a murder suspect phoned him and exclaimed: "Dixie, Dixie, I am wanted for the A-6 murder."

Charles France said he told James Hanratty, 25, "Cool down—cool down lad, and tell me all about it."

Set of rubies presented to Princess

Rangoon, Nov. 28.

Burmese President U Win Maung today presented Princess Alexandra with a personal gift of a set of rubies.

The presentation took place at the President's mansion just before a garden party which he gave in her honour.

The blood-red rubies were specially brought down from the ruby mines in Upper Burma and consisted of earrings, pendant, brooch, bracelet, ring and one set of Burmese jacket buttons, all of them set in fine gold.

The Princess at once put them on and more than 2,000 people saw them on her at the garden party.

Earlier the Princess visited Burma's most sacred Buddhist shrine, the Shwedagon Pagoda, and made a donation of 500 kyats (about £380).

There the Princess made a wish to return to Burma by striking a wishing bell housed on the platform of the Pagoda.

VISITED TOMB

Afterwards she visited the tomb of the Burmese political martyr, General Aung San, who was assassinated in 1947, and laid a wreath at the tomb.

Then she called on the Burmese Premier U Nu.

President U Win Maung today gave personal presents of Burmese costumes to members of Princess Alexandra's party—silk short jackets and narrow skirts for the women and long silk jackets and wide skirts for the men.

The Princess had her first taste of typical Burmese food when U Nu entertained her to lunch. He produced a variety of curries and rice.

During today's engagements the Princess also spent nearly an hour talking to British and Australian citizens at the British Ambassador's residence—Reuter.

Hanratty is charged with murdering Michael Gregson, a physicist, and raping and attempting to murder his companion, Miss Valerie Storie, 23, in a lay-by on the A-6 highway on August 23.

Miss Storie gave her evidence from her bed in hospital where she is recovering from five bullet wounds.

Mr France said Hanratty—who he knew as Jimmy Ryan—had stayed with him and his family on several occasions.

Mr Michael Sheppard, defending, asked Mr France: "When you were speaking to Hanratty on the telephone and he said 'Dixie, Dixie, I am wanted for murder,' the effect of what he was saying was that he was protesting innocence?"

Mr France replied: "Yes, I would say that he was saying he didn't do it."

Mr France earlier said that his daughter, Carol, twice dyed Hanratty's hair dark brown or black. The first time on August 7, and again a few days after the murder.—China Mail Special.

Insurance companies investing abroad

London, Nov. 28.

British life insurance companies were today reported to be turning more towards investment of their funds abroad.

The British Institute of Actuaries, in a statement, said it was common knowledge many life insurance offices had invested part of their funds in United States dollar stocks.

Many life insurance offices were believed to have been considering whether they should invest in Europe to take advantage of benefits arising out of the Common Market, the statement said.

These investments in overseas ordinary shares benefited particularly from double taxation relief for overseas investments accorded by British tax authorities.—China Mail Special.

Rockefeller has not given up hope

Manila, Nov. 28.

Governor Nelson Rockefeller arrived here from Dutch New Guinea tonight and said there was an outside chance his missing 23-year-old son Michael is still alive.

Mr Rockefeller stopped briefly at Manila after a three-hour flight from Biak, Dutch New Guinea. He left for Bangkok, Amsterdam and New York later.

"There is an outside chance he may be still alive," Mr Rockefeller said of his son, who has been missing for 10 days on the south shore of Dutch New Guinea. "It will be a miracle, but we have not given up hope."

"The search will continue in the villages in case he got ashore."

China issue

United Nations, Nov. 28. M. Mongi Slim (Tunisia) the President announced in the General Assembly tonight that the Chinese representation issue would come up for debate on Friday.

It will be the first time that the world forum has had a substantive debate on whether to recognise China and withdraw recognition of the Nationalist government in Taiwan.

Observers predicted that the assembly would not produce the required two-thirds majority vote to seat Peking representatives. Debate is expected to take about 10 days to a fortnight.—AP.

MURDER MYSTERY
IN MELBOURNEThe Yard asked to help

Melbourne, Nov. 28.

The Melbourne Homicide Squad today asked Scotland Yard for help in solving the murder of an English immigrant, James Martin, 43, who was found battered to death in the suburb of Carlton on Saturday night.

Police investigations in Melbourne are being hampered because detectives have no picture of Martin to circulate to possible witnesses.

The chief of the Homicide Squad, Detective-Inspector J. Matthews, today cabled the officer in charge of Manchester Police, England, asking him to try and obtain a recent photograph.

The cable also asked that all the resources of Scotland Yard be used to help.

Martin had a good Royal Navy record.

BATTERED

Martin, who lived in Fitzroy suburb, was found battered to death on Sunday in the yard of an unoccupied condemned house in Carlton.

Police believe some men were at the house with Martin drinking wine. Detectives are now scouring inner suburban wine saloons seeking witnesses.

Detectives think that Martin may have had a broken romance in England which would account for his emigration to Australia and his heavy drinking here.

Nicknamed "Sailor Jim," Martin's diary shows he was a very sentimental man.

His murder is the 46th in Victoria this year—an all-time record for the State.—China Mail Special.

Margaret's first official duty

London, Nov. 28.

Princess Margaret yesterday carried out her first official duty since the birth of her son just over three weeks ago.

She and the Queen Mother, acting as Counsellors of State during the Queen's absence, held a Privy Council to sign official documents and attend to state affairs on the Queen's behalf.

The Queen's uncle, the Duke of Gloucester and her cousin, the Duke of Kent, also acting as Counsellors, did not attend.

The Council, the first since the Queen left for Africa, was held in Clarence House where the Princess has remained since the birth of the baby.—China Mail Special.

Spaghetti
millionaire sings in Carnegie

New York, Nov. 28.

Millionaire spaghetti manufacturer, Giovanni Buitoni, 70, had his "night" yesterday. He hired Carnegie Hall and made his debut as a basso.

Some 2,800 friends and employees cheered him.

Onetime Mayor of Perugia, Italy, and resident of the United States for 22 years, Mr Buitoni decided a decade ago that he had made enough money from his interests in the Italo-American Butch-Perugina Corp.

He decided to spend as much of his time as possible in swimming, horsemanship riding and cultivating his rich bass voice.

His dream of singing in public was realised on Monday night.

The big item of his performance was singing a love duet with Metropolitan Opera soprano Lucia Albanese, who was engaged along with the hall.

He dedicated his concert to "those who made possible my success in the United States."—AP.

Mercury
project
alert

Canberra, Nov. 28.

The Minister for Air Senator H. W. Wade, announced today that four RAAF maritime reconnaissance aircraft would be stationed on the east and west coasts of Australia for the remote possibility of any emergency search that may be necessary in the current phase of "Project Mercury."

All aircraft will carry search-and-rescue-and-homing (Sarah) equipment which enables them to pinpoint a location immediately.

Senator Wade said the planes would remain at coastal bases until completion of this firing of Project Mercury.

It has been announced in the United States that an attempt would be made to place a capsule carrying a chimpanzee into orbit in the near future.—China Mail Special.

TITANS FROM THE NORTH

Mr Tse with his staff in the Underwriters Bank

HE AIRLIFTED A COMPANY A THOUSAND MILES FROM SHANGHAI TO HONGKONG

In the lounge of his villa in Headland-road, Mr K. K. Tse slowly paced the cream-carpeted floor. Soft light from desk lamps and floor standards wove a spell of warmth and coziness in the plush spacious room. Lengthwise, a glass window wall was completely curtained over, temporarily shutting off the night-clad garden terrace.

Hands in pockets, K. K., the prominent insurance man in Hongkong, was reminiscing about the eventful years behind all the luxury and comfort.

K. K. is the one who lent a big hand in reviving the American Asiatic Underwriters (AAU) in Shanghai after the Second World War and thereby contributed greatly to the buildup of the sprawling AUI empire—AUI, as you know, is the world-leading American International Underwriters.

Into oblivion

Founded in Shanghai in 1919 by an American lawyer, Mr C. V. Starr, AAU would have been scrapped into oblivion during the Japanese occupation had it not been for K.K.'s initiative in preserving its records, property and staff.

He did so by some "horse-trading" right under the noses of the Japanese.

Here is how the story goes:

An announcement came over the radio early on the morning of December 8, 1941, that Japanese troops had entered the French Concession and the International Settlement of Shanghai.

They were taking over the Shanghai Municipal Council, banks and newspapers, and ordering that bank vaults be closed.

Three liquidators came over to the Underwriters Bank and another liquidator from the insurance department of the Mitsui Bank took over AAU.

Bank officer

"Towards the end, I talked to the Japanese liquidator frankly that we must keep the company records and that whoever wins the war, we'll need them either for another liquidation or resumption of operation," Mr Tse replied.

"He accepted my request. We packed all the records in 50 boxes, locked them up and stored them away in the Bank of Taiwan vault."

Furthermore, Mr Tse persuaded the Bank of Taiwan to take over his company's furniture and staff.

The Japanese accepted the proposals. However, Mr Tse himself turned down the Japanese invitation to become a Bank of Taiwan officer.

Instead, he almost turned his hobby, poker, into "a livelihood."

After V-J Day, Mr Tse asked the Japanese liquidator for the whereabouts of his company's records.

"I threatened 'If anything goes wrong, you'll be held responsible and don't think I won't raise hell!' he recalled with a smile."

The pressure worked and the records had all been sold as waste paper to a paper mill in Yangtzeport in north Shanghai.

Repossession

"My colleagues and I spent days locating the documents and sorting them out from a pile of waste paper ready to be burned into pulp any minute!" said K.K.

"Thank heaven, they were practically all there."

All the items had been marked by AAU originally and they had been in use inside the Bank of Taiwan throughout the Japanese occupation.

This made repossession a simple matter of sorting them back to the old premises of AAU in the North China Daily News Building at 47 The Bund.

The staff members "They just walked over," K. K. said.

"This is why AAU was the first foreign firm to resume operations after the Japanese surrender."

Foreign exchange

But at the old Chinese Spring and Autumn Fair, when prices were steadily rising, K.K. was not the only one who was not a victim of the inflation. In late 1949, the company moved AAU in Shanghai to Hongkong.

(5) — by David Lan

stranglehold of rigid foreign exchange control. No longer could it function as the Far Eastern regional headquarters for Hongkong, Indochina, Thailand, Singapore, Malaya, Indo-China and other countries in the Southeast Asia. It was a case of "move or perish."

And the die was cast to move for survival.

Apartment houses

Then came the dramatic airlift of a 30-year-old company—lock, stock, and barrel—across 1,000 miles from Shanghai to Hongkong without losing a single day of work.

And K. K. did it again!

He bought six apartment houses in Hongkong. During the New Year holiday, three planeloads of staff members flew south with families and company records.

They were housed and catered for immediately after landing at the Kai Tak Airport.

At the end of the New Year holiday they went to work in their new Hongkong office, books, abacus and all!

Today under K. K.'s direction is AUI's Far East regional office with operations in Taiwan, Singapore, Malaya, Thailand, Burma, Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Indonesia, North Borneo and Sarawak.

Success principles

As a senior representative of the American International Group, K.K. is also Director of the American International Assurance Co Ltd, the Underwriters Bank, the Hongkong Garage Ltd, and the Metropolitan Land Co Ltd.

His principles of success? Sincerity, foresight, initiative, enterprise, vigilance, patience and courage as you can infer from the foregoing anecdotes.

His method of solving problems is "thorough study"—"Devote a certain time to the basic factors while you study a problem thoroughly. Invariably, you will arrive automatically at the answer."

Born in Changshu near Shanghai in 1907, K. K. joined AAU in Shanghai in 1927 as a sub-accountant at the age of 20.

In 1932, he was delegated authority to handle AAU's investment as well as the operation of the Underwriters Bank in Shanghai.

In 1938, he set up a new accounting system for AAU as a result of AAU's rapid business expansion.

Five children

What with nature and what with nurture, K. K. has always been interested in figures and finance.

Said he years ago, "With five children on hand, I'd better be interested in finance."

And now the outcome has been extraordinarily successful.

His eldest son, Stephen, 31, a graduate of Wisconsin University in 1955, is married with two sons and is now working with C. V. Starr & Co, Inc. in New York.

Two of his four daughters are married and the remaining two are still attending college in USA.

They are: Virginia, a senior at the Boston University, and Helena, a junior in Wellesley College.

Here in Hongkong, there are "only two of us—the old couple," he said. "But we have lots of friends."

Yes, the very last point he mentioned is his key to success in life.

"Be sincere and frank to your friends," he advised. "In the long run, they will be good to you!"

And how he has proven it true himself!

Immigration— and the Irish

PETER BURGOWNE'S News from Britain

London.

In all the current rumpus about immigration, and who should or should not have access to our supposedly gold-paved shores, one voice has been raised to a special pitch of indignation.

It is the injured bregue of our cousins the Irish.

All seemed well at first.

Mr Butler announced that citizens of the Irish Republic would not be kept out of Britain by the new Bill. But then it all boiled up again...

In any case, we know our Irish. Even a satisfactory ending does not usually stop an Irishman from continuing to enjoy a row, on the strength of the hard things that were said before.

If the long chapter of The Troubles (as between us and the Irish) is any guide, we shall not lightly be allowed to forget that we even dared to suggest relieving Paddy of his immigration permit.

Influx

On one level, he has an excellent case for remaining among us. Our building industry, farms, public transport systems, and hospitals are only a few of the big undertakings that have come to lean heavily for labour on the Irish influx.

The feeling is widespread among many of our industrialists that there is great economic value in this flood of casual or seasonal labour, responding sensitively to our changing needs.

England, moreover, (as Paddy's more vociferous compatriots have been swift to remind us) would not be the cold place it is had there been no Duke of Wellington, General Blucher, George Bernard Shaw, Oscar Wilde, or Sean O'Casey.

History might have worked out very differently if it had not been for the Irish. Another historical footnote: the Irish have been in the country since the dawn of time. But there is another level. We were reminded of this when we were told that the Irish are the only people in the world who have been in the country since the dawn of time.

(on the British estimate) at least 70,000 Irish a year.

Some, of course, settle well and become respected citizens. But many, to be frank, remain a bit of a problem.

Crowded

The Irish labouring man works hard, and at the weekend he likes a drink. If the only accommodation he can find here is rough and crowded, he crowds in and roughs it with the rest.

There are alarming reports from one district of Birmingham: of one house said to contain an Irish family of nine in the front room, six in the middle room, and ten in an upstairs room—to say nothing of the twelve Pakistanis in the kitchen.

Not are they all workers. It seems, who are disgraced in Liverpool, usually on the Saturday night boat from Dublin. There have been accounts this week of deserted mothers with young children; of young girls hardly out of school who would probably drift into prostitution unless a watchful eye was kept on illiterate youths without the prospects of a job, but with an eye on English rates of National Assistance and unemployment pay.

Faith

Many stories with names in Irish names in the papers. But the Irish are not the only people in the world who have been in the country since the dawn of time. The Irish are the only people in the world who have been in the country since the dawn of time.

MCC held to a draw — but everyone was happy this time

Nagpur, Nov. 28.

Set to score 65 runs in 20 minutes after a surprise declaration by Central Zone on the last day of their match here today, MCC failed by only seven runs.

Hitting at everything, and running hard between the wickets, MCC made 58 for three wickets in six overs to the delight of a 15,000 crowd. It is one of the unwritten rules of cricket that there is no point in declaring unless you have a chance of winning, but K.M. Rangia, the Central Zone captain, set out to give the crowd a treat by closing his second innings at 235 for six.

Mobbed

MCC took up the challenge, and succeeded so well that thousands of excited onlookers invaded the pitch at the finish and mobbed Mike Smith, who was leading the touring team in this match. Smith needed the help of the Police to get back to the dressing room.

So everyone was happy, despite MCC's sixth drawn game in seven matches in India.

MCC, after gaining a first innings lead of 171, lost their chance of forcing a win through their inability to break a third-wicket stand between two brothers, the young Princes Suryavir Singh and Hanuman Singh, which added 129. Suryavir made 112 in 210 minutes, the first century of his career.

Following on, Central Zone lost two wickets cheaply, but the first hour produced 67 runs, and when Hanuman joined Suryavir, the MCC bowlers received their worst mauling of the tour, the pair adding 50 in 35 minutes.

Suryavir reached three figures in 105 minutes with the aid of 14 fours. Hanuman Singh was out just before the tea interval, and after Chaturvedi and Rangia had fallen cheaply, Rangia sparked life into the game with his declaration.

John Murray and Barry Knight opened for MCC. Murray was run out in the first over and then Peter Parfitt was bowled middle stump, trying a big hit off Rahim and two men were out for 13. But Rahim's second over yielded 17 runs, including a straight six by Knight.

Fourteen runs were needed in the final over, but Knight was bowled by the fifth ball.

First innings points for New South Wales

Sydney, Nov. 28.

New South Wales took first innings points, in spite of a splendid innings of 81 by West Indies star Rohan Kanhai, in their rain-routed match which ended in a draw here today.

After making 218 in their first innings, New South Wales dismissed Western Australia for 176 and then scored 121 for two in their second innings before the close.

Rain washed out the first two days' play and delayed the start yesterday.

Western Australia, resuming this morning with only seven runs on the board and two wickets down, lost two more wickets with only 29 scored.

Kanhai made a great effort to swing the match, hitting 11 fours in his stay of 130 minutes. He took 86 minutes for his first 31 runs, but his last 50 came in 41 minutes.

Test left-hander, Alan Davidson, was the most successful of the New South Wales bowlers, taking 3 for 24 in 13 overs.

Scores were: New South Wales 218 and 121 for two (R. Simpson not out 59), Western Australia 176 (R. Kanhai 81, Davidson three for 24, Simpson two for six).—China Mail Special.

PIETRANGELI OPTIMISTIC ABOUT ITALY'S DAVIS CUP CHANCES

Rome, Nov. 28.

The No. 1 Italian Davis Cup player, Nicola Pietrangeli said here today that with luck on their side Italy could take the Davis Cup home to Italy after their challenge round meeting with Australia at Melbourne's grass courts in late December.

Pietrangeli, a tall, dark Italian with a liking for elegant stroke play from the base line, said that Italy went into this final with far greater hopes than was the case last year.

"Last year we were simply pleased to have beaten the U.S. and to have reached the final for the first time. But this time it is different. We want to win, and if the luck runs our way, we will."

Draw hope

The brilliant Italian player said that Italy had a 40 per cent chance of winning the Cup—if the matches were to be played on hard courts instead of grass, he thought that the two finalists would be on an equal footing.

On the question of the draw Pietrangeli said that he hoped that he would not meet Rod Laver, the Wimbledon singles champion, on the first day. Laver had beaten him five times out of five on grass courts.

He said that he had beaten Neale Fraser five times and lost once. Roy Emerson had met more than 10 times, but Emerson had only won one encounter.—AFP.

Arsenal wants Wright

London, Nov. 28.

Arsenal have asked Billy Wright, the former England and Wolverhampton Wanderers captain and centre-half, to join them as coach.

Bob Wall, Arsenal secretary, said today: "We have asked Billy to join us but so far we have not heard what he feels about it as he is now in Holland with the England Under-23 team".—AFP.

Army versus Police Pentangular Rugby match today

By LANCASTRIAN

At the Army ground at Boundary-street at 4.15 this afternoon Army takes on Police in what will be for each team the first Pentangular match of the season.

The Army team has not yet played a match together and so it is not easy to assess their strength. But the bush telegraph works fairly well in Hongkong and one gathers that supporters feel this year's team will not be as good as either of last season's sub-divisions, Brigade and Garrison. I am not in agreement with that; there is plenty of good talent about in the Army and provided they learn to play well together they should be a force to be reckoned with.

Police, of course, have had a number of games outside the competition, but they have not really played up to their potential yet, and their day may not be far away.

There is one other match on the card. At Sookunpoo at 3.30 pm the Fifth Fusiliers (RNF) play the RAF in what may well be a very even and hard-fought set-up. RAF lost to Sek Kong Strangers on Saturday which would suggest they are finding life hard at the moment and they may again go down today. But if Close and Mason who are just back from the Saigon-Bangkok tour are selected they will strengthen the team a lot.

WILMA RUDOLPH MARRIED

Nashville, Nov. 28.

Wilma Rudolph, the Olympic track star from Tennessee University, confirmed today she was secretly married last month to a fellow member of the University's track team.

The Negro athlete, 21, said she was married on Oct. 14 in a civil ceremony to William Ward, 25.

The new Mrs. Ward took three gold medals for the United States in the 1960 Olympics in Rome and was voted the nation's Woman Athlete of the Year.—AP.

Squash champion Azam Khan in last eight

London, Nov. 28.

Azam Khan (New Grasshopper), the little Pakistani squash player, fighting for his fourth successive British Open title, reached the last eight today with a hard-fought 10-8, 9-8, 8-4 victory over Wales' top amateur, Denis Hughes.

Azam, however, received warning of a strong challenge from his 22-year-old nephew, Mohibullah Khan. Mohibullah, who was beaten by his uncle in last year's final, showed tremendous form in beating Jeremy Lyon (Essex) 9-8, 9-8 in today's second round. Azam next meets the reigning amateur champion, Michael Oddy of Scotland, the last British survivor among three Pakistanis and four Egyptians. Other second round results were:

A. F. Taleb (Egypt) beat T. Shafik (Egypt) 8-9, 9-8, 10-9.

M. Dardir (Egypt) beat M. W. Corby (Middlesex) 9-2, 9-2, 9-0.

J. Amin (Egypt) beat J. C. Gordon (Surrey) 9-3, 9-2, 9-2.

Roshan Khan (Pakistan) beat Khan, Din (Abbedale) 9-1, 9-5, 9-1.

K. Zaghoul (Egypt) beat H. E. Truman, (Essex) 9-10, 9-5, 9-6, 8-10, 9-7.—AP.

Brentford in third round of FA Cup

A YANK FOR ENGLAND RUGBY TEAM

By JOHN COTTRELL

A QUARTER of a century ago, England's rugby selectors made history by choosing a Russian, 20-year-old Prince Alexander Obolensky, for the Twickenham international against the Third All Blacks.

He had won an England trial through a great display for Oxford in the drawn "Varsity" match, and at Twickenham he helped England to victory by scoring what many have rated the greatest try ever seen.

The controversy which raged over the selection of "The Flying Slav" was forgotten after his glorious try-scoring run. Obolensky went on to play against all the home countries.

Now there is speculation on whether another "foreigner" might win an England trial through his performances for Oxford—wing three-quarter Peter Dawkins, the Yank at Oxford who won his first Blue two years ago.

Nothing in the rules prevents him playing. Like Obolensky he has learned the Rugby Union game in England and has not played this code of football for any other country.

Dynamic Dawkins is now in his third year of residence in England as a Rhodes Scholar.

Once he has regained peak fitness there can be little doubt that he would be worthy of an England trial.

The second England trial will be at Leeds on December 12—four days after the University match. Will the selectors give Dawkins the chance that Obolensky once had?

His selection would hardly arouse so much controversy as that of the Russian in 1936. But somehow I cannot see the selectors making such an imaginative move.

Tommy's tombstone

As Canada prepares for the rare privilege of staging a world heavyweight title, boxing fans are suddenly remembering the only Canadian to win the title—Ontario-born Tommy Burns, world champion (1906-08).

Six years after his death, a committee of fans has started a fund to put up a tombstone on his unmarked grave in Vancouver.

Appropriate date for making this belated gesture would be Boxing Day— Boxing Day of Burns' illustrious fight at Sydney's Esplanade, where he lost the world title to the great Jack Johnson.

Burns has long been neglected as a great champion. He was so overshadowed by immortal Johnson that his own string of famous victories tended to be forgotten.

His record is all the more notable when it is recalled that he was the smallest-ever world heavyweight champion—5 ft 7 in. tall.

Shadow swimming

Not satisfied with producing the youngest "water babies" ever to appear in world-class swimming, the Australians have a new scheme to develop their youngsters even faster.

Next January, Australia will stage four international swimming matches against Japan. As usual, each country will be represented by two swimmers in each race. But there will be one difference.

The spare lanes will be allotted to promising youngsters. They will not score points or be recognised as full internationals.

Instead, they will be there to gain valuable experience of competing against top-class swimmers in a big-match atmosphere.

Fashion display

Miss Annabelle George, American mannequin, yesterday gave a special fashion display of garments made by destitute and incapacitated girls employed by the Church World Service knitting project. The display was held for the benefit of the knitters who had never seen their sweaters modelled before. A tea party was held at the Kowloon Union Church for 27 workers including blind girls.

Miss George and Miss Lee Harrell, of Hollywood, who designed some of the woollens shown, leave Hongkong today with colourful examples of the handknits to show in Los Angeles. They hope to send many orders to Mrs E. E. Gates, wife of the Director of Church World Service, who started the project now employing 107 women previously without work.

Air girls given leave to work among Tibet refugees

Two Pan American Airways stewardesses, who regularly fly into Hongkong, will abandon the comforts of the jet age world for two months to work among Tibetan refugees in the hills of Northern India.

Marjorie Thompson, 25, and Margery Burgis, 27, have been granted leave of absence by Pan American to work in India for the Tom Dooley Foundation, an organisation providing medical assistance to the peoples of Asia in the spirit of the late Dr Dooley.

Miss Thompson and Miss Burgis share rooms in San Francisco and have done considerable volunteer work as nurses' aids.

On a recent flight, Miss Burgis and Miss Thompson met Dr Verne C. Chaney, executive field director for the foundation. Dr Chaney told them of the foundation's work in Tibetan refugee camps and aroused their interest in volunteer service.

Before reporting for their two-month assignment in India, the stewardesses will take a vacation trip in the Middle East, travelling down the Nile and exploring Holy Land sites.

Crown appeals against magistrate's decision in car-for-hire case

The question of authorisation in writing by the Commissioner of Police in regard to a traffic document was raised in the Full Court this morning in an appeal by the Crown against a Magistrate's decision.

It was brought out at the hearing that in September, a man, Wong Yiu-wing, was discharged in the North Kowloon Magistracy on two counts of plying a private car for hire and driving without third party insurance.

The Magistrate upheld a defence submission that a document signed by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles stating that the car concerned was a private car was inadmissible. Mr W. S. W. Davidson, Crown Counsel, told the Full Court that at the trial, the defence had submitted that the Commissioner of Police was the person charged with maintaining a register of motor vehicles, and since the document in question was not signed by him and since no authorisation in writing by the Commissioner of Police had been proved at the trial, the document was not admissible as evidence.

Presumption

Mr Davidson said the Crown's case was that it was not necessary for the Crown to prove the authorisation in writing as there was a presumption of such authorisation with regard to public officials which applied to every case of this nature.

Hearing is continuing. Wong Yiu-wing, the respondent, is represented by Mr Brook Bernacchi, QC, on the instructions of Mr L. J. D'Almada Remedios.

The Full Court comprises the Chief Justice, Sir Michael Hogan, the Senior Puisne Judge, Mr Justice I. C. C. Riggby, and the Puisne Judge, Mr Justice W. A. Blair-Kerr.
